

Quality Policy

Bosch Rexroth Canada is committed to providing designs, products and services that comply consistently with the customer's contract and specification requirements.

Bosch Rexroth Canada believes that the responsibility for quality products requires the full commitment of each and every employee. The process begins with contract review, and continues through the design process to production, where competent personnel accept the responsibility for building quality into every product manufactured or supplied by Bosch Rexroth Canada.

The Bosch Rexroth Canada Quality Assurance program is established by formal written procedures that are developed by competent personnel. Every effort is made to ensure prompt detection of discrepancies and to ensure timely and effective corrective action.
